

EMPEROR WILLIAM OFFERS HIS PALACE FOR SALE

Geneva, via Paris, Nov. 12.—Emperor William is offering his marble palace, the villa of Achilleon, in Corfu, for sale. It was built in 1890-91 for the Empress Elizabeth of Austria at a cost of $5,000,000, and has since been improved. A syndicate of German and Swiss hotel men wished to buy

Achilleon a few years ago, but they were outbid by the Emperor. The Emperor's decision to sell the place, it is stated, is the result of the uncertain attitude of Greece towards Germany and Austria. It is said he fears confiscation of the palace if Greece joins the allies. A Swiss syndicate has been given an option on the place at a low price. The villa of Achilleon, which is in the Italian renaissance style, was purchased in 1907 by the German Emperor. The gardens are open to visitors. At the back of the villa are statues of Iphigenia, the poet, by the Danish sculptor Hassenlopp. The peristyle and three terraces, with a large number of statues and villas among them, on the outermost terrace is a "lying Achilles," by Herter.

THIRD PHASE OF WAR ENTERED; TUNNELING TACTICS BY TROOPS

Paris, Nov. 13. (7:00 a. m.)—The conviction is growing here that the period of the German strategic offensive is drawing to a close and that the war, on both the western and eastern fronts is about to enter its third phase. The present violent effort in the Ypres region, while it may have succeeded in bending the allies' line in a few places, has not yet, according to either French or German reports, succeeded in breaking it and it seems impossible that the attempt can be repeated under the same conditions. Even success at this point might prove merely momentary, like that of St. Mihiel on the Meuse six weeks ago. But General Joffre, the French commander-in-chief, is fully alive to the importance of this position and according to an officer just returned from Ypres, that even though the German offensive has been prepared for, the ally's position is formidable, that of the allies is still more so and causes fearful damage in the enemy's trenches. The fighting in this region is largely an artillery duel with the infantry remaining in the trenches. They can only approach the enemy by boring tunnels which are converted into the trenches by piercing the roof. However important the operations in Flanders may be, they are now overshadowed both in extent and in influence by those on the war as a whole by the eastern campaign.

WAR BULLETINS

TEUTONS LOSE GUNS

Paris, Nov. 13. (8:35 a. m.)—According to a Petrograd dispatch to the Matin the Germans suffered a severe defeat beyond Kalis, losing 12 heavy guns and leaving many dead on the field.

GERMAN FLEET ACTIVE

London, Nov. 13. (7:45 a. m.)—A dispatch from Copenhagen to the Times says: "Military experts here attach importance to the news that great and unusual activity prevails among the German warships and auxiliaries in Kiel canal."

TSING-TAU MINES DEADLY

Tokio, Nov. 13. (1:15 p. m.)—An official communication made public today that the subterranean mines which exploded at Tsing-Tau while being removed on Nov. 11 killed 2 officers and 8 soldiers and injured one officer and 56 soldiers. Four hundred and thirty-six wounded Germans are in the hospital at Tsing-Tau.

STATE-WIDE FIGHT

ism and intelligence of our citizenship. We are therefore convinced that the fight should be renewed at once, and that a vote should be taken as originally planned, in 1915, for the following reasons:

"Temporary defeat of a righteous cause brings it one step nearer to victory.

"The battle on November 3 was far from decisive. The vote reveals the fact that the temperance forces have more reason for assurance of ultimate victory than the liquor forces have to believe that public opinion will much longer tolerate the traffic in Ohio.

"Twenty nine 'wet' counties voted 'dry,' and outside of Cincinnati and Cleveland, the state voted for Prohibition. More than 500,000 voters in Ohio are ready for the abolition of the saloon and so voted on November 3. Seventy nine counties voted against the Home Rule amendment and seventy counties voted for Prohibition.

"In 1915 there will be no state or national election to furnish an opportunity for political vote trading.

"The counties now are organized and a delay of two years will require reorganization and an extra effort to start the work anew.

"Every day we delay saloons will multiply in Ohio, and every saloon will be a recruiting station for the enemy and another fort that must be taken.

"An expression of more than a thousand churches, committees and supporters of the cause demonstrates that the preference for a vote next year is overwhelming. To postpone action is to allow the fires of enthusiasm to cool and permit county organizations to disintegrate and give time for the enemy better to entrench itself.

"We appeal to all good citizens to help perfect county organizations, close up the ranks and strengthen the weak spots in our armor, pledging anew their devotion to this cause until we have a saloonless state.

"To this end we recommend that petitions be circulated at once, and that they be filed as soon as county organizations are perfected, and that a convention be called at Columbus by the Headquarters Committee in January, 1915, for reports of progress and for completing the plans of the campaign. We depend for success upon the same leader who commanded Moses to 'speak to the children of Israel that they go forward.'"

Records of the ballots in the Hamilton County election on home rule surely will be demanded and obtained, Attorney R. A. Mack, of Cincinnati, stated tonight after a conference with Anti-Liberal leaders here.

Superstition.
"What worries me about my wife," said Mr. Meekton, confidentially, "is that she is getting superstitious." "What about?" "Me. Whenever anything goes wrong she always manages to figure it out that I'm the person who brought bad luck into the family."

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 13.—With the recent for United States senator still uncompleted in sections where the demand has been made, official returns show Paul O. Hastings, a democrat, has a lead over Gov. F. E. McGovern, republican, of approximately 1,000 votes.

Cattle Quarantine Is Creating Trouble For Many Shippers

Columbus, Nov. 13.—Wholesale mercantile business in most large cities of Ohio was partially paralyzed today as a result of quarantine orders issued by the state agricultural commission on account of foot and mouth disease.

Shipping articles packed in straw and hay virtually ceased temporarily because railroads refused to accept shipments unless each was accompanied by an affidavit certifying that the straw packing material was harvested before August 1.

Many jobbing companies telegraphed Dr. Paul Fischer, chief state veterinarian, asking a modification of the order relating to straw or hay packing, but this was refused on the ground of "strict necessity." Shippers were told they would have to arrange with railroads concerning the affidavits, and that if railroad authorities wished to accept a single affidavit for a number of shipments, the state veterinarian of Ohio could not object.

Hay Shortage In Chicago.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Alarm over a shortage of hay in Chicago by reason of the quarantine was expressed by dealers today. Hay which sold at $17 a ton last week cost $20. This city requires 1,000 tons of the food a day, but yesterday's receipts were only 300 tons.

The supply at present is sufficient.

Columbus, Nov. 13.—Foot and mouth quarantine orders today affected Governor Cox as well as ordinary citizens of the state. The governor left Columbus for a 10 days' hunting trip in Kentucky. He was compelled to leave his favorite hunting dog on his farm near Dayton. He will get a Kentucky hound to stir up game.

OPENING OF TOY LAND

Andersons' Toy Opening Saturday

Next to Christmas, Andersons' toy opening is the greatest event of the year for the children of Portsmouth. That long-looked-for and much enjoyed day comes Saturday. The toys are all out ready to be seen by children and grown-ups alike, and ready to be selected for Christmas giving.

To many stores the toy and doll problem this season is a serious one. Most of the playthings are made in European countries now engaged in war. However, by buying our stocks way last February they arrived in this country at the outbreak of the war, before the steel-coated battles began capturing the merchantmen and so we have our toy land supplied as thoroughly as though there was no war. But regardless on most lines is out of the question. The toys that we have here we can sell, but where the next ones are coming from we don't know.

We don't worry about the future for we have a great assortment here for the children of the community and we want all the grown-ups to come Saturday and bring all the children to see the sights.

Dolls and Sleds and Drums and--- Goodness knows what all you will find here all ready to fill Santa Claus' sleigh. Dressed dolls till the little girls can't rest, all fixed up in their best Sunday clothes and Summer Hats, and priced 25c to $2.50. Then the undressed dolls at 10c to $5.50 and the character dolls at 25c to $3.50 afford a great field for selecting a present for the little girl.

Humpty Dumpty sets at 50c to $3.50 and Rolly Dolly pieces at 10c to 50c are funny. Toy tea sets at 10c to $2.00 will please every girl while toy mechanical trains at $1.25 to $6.50 and electrical trains at $1.50 to $12.50 will please every boy. So will the transformers, tunnels, stations, switches, cross overs, extra track, bumpers, extra cars, etc., please the boy who already has a part of an Ives railway system.

Bill (Climbing) toys, such as street cars, engines, boats, automobiles, hooks and ladders, fire engines, etc., at 10c to $1.00. Games in a hundred varieties including the new European Games which will be very popular. The animal toys, elephants, dogs, horses, donkeys, etc., up to $5.00 are very attractive, while the mechanical toys from 10c to $1.00 include such amusing combinations as coin jiggers, hunking bronchos, automatic pool tables, merry-go-rounds, snakes, mice, etc.

The American Model Builders at 50c to $7.00 and dynamos and shafting to go with them are the desire of every boy. Spelling boards at 75c and $1.00 and air guns from 50c to $2.00 are very desirable. Then we have horns from 5c to $1.50, pop guns at 10c to 50c, teddy bears 25c to $1.50, foot balls and boxing gloves at all prices.

Christmas tree ornaments and tree holders as well as things to go round the trees are new with this season. Our stock of tool chests, toy trunks, building blocks, toy beds and doll furniture was never greater. While the planes at 25c to $12.00 are a source of much pleasure to the little boys.

Taking it all in, all our great third floor is arranged this year with the greatest and most complete selection of toys has ever been our pleasure to show, and we feel it is especially fitting today to see this exhibit.

NOTE

NOTE: Any toys purchased now will be held and delivered Christmas week without extra charge upon request of customer.

THE MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION MEETING.

A striking characteristic of the annual meeting and banquet of the Retail Merchants' Association members which was held Thursday evening was the manifestation on all sides of cordial good feeling and a spirit of co-operation. They are all Portsmouth men, those who compose this organization and they were on hand Thursday night, ready and willing to sink all rivalries and all differences in any cause that would lead to a greater and better Portsmouth. And this is as it should be. It is the spirit that sends a town forward, that makes it an enviable town in which to reside.

We congratulate the merchants upon the broad spirit that characterizes their association and upon the harmony that exists in their midst. It augurs well for the future.

And in this connection we cannot forbear making special comment upon the address made by Mr. B. H. Kroger, of Cincinnati. It was the talk of a man who had been through the mill, a man to whom success had come through hard, grinding, persistent work. His talk had a large personal element in it that added to its attractiveness, to its human interest. Who in that audience that did not thrill at the matter of fact statement, that came out incidentally in his speech, that in 1883 he started out with a little store on Pearl street in Cincinnati with a capital of $342? And who did not take on fresh hope and courage and face the future with more determination to win when it was stated that from this small start had grown a business that would reach $11,000,000 this year?

And time and again Mr. Kroger drilled home the thought that it was work, hard work that took no account of the clock; that it was close attention to detail; that it was seeing every customer, no matter how small, was given the attention that made a satisfied customer, that spelled success and not just luck. There is no such word as the latter in the Kroger vocabulary.

The admonition to stand together for the town in which one lives, to hasten early and late and join in all things to make that town grow and prosper, was another good thing. "I was glad to see you had boulevard lights," exclaimed the speaker at this point in his address. "It is fine. There's no advertisement that is any better than plenty of light, and," he continued, "there's plenty of business lying around for all of you. Go after it. It's there for you."

Altogether it was a great gathering that our business men had. And they are to be congratulated upon the foresight of their committee which secured such capable men as Mr. Kroger, Mr. Sullivan, Senator Tremper and Mr. Zedler to address them.

A GOVERNMENT REPORT ON THE FRIEDMANN TREATMENT.

In recent years there has probably been no announcement which attracted a more widespread attention in this country than the announcement of the Friedmann treatment for tuberculosis. This was due to skillful handling of the publicity work in the daily press. The sensational newspaper reports of alleged improvement and cure of cases of tuberculosis following the use of the treatment, the reports of persons of high position in public life, of lay workers in tuberculosis, and even a few physicians who became enthusiastic supporters of Friedmann will be recalled by every one. When a note of warning was sounded by The Journal of the American Medical Association and others the assertion was made that Friedmann was being hindered in his great work. The fact is otherwise.

Immediately on the arrival of Dr. Friedmann in this country, the United States Public Health Service took up an investigation of the validity of the claims for the treatment. A board was appointed consisting of Surgeon John E. Anderson, the director of the Hygienic Laboratory, and Surgeon A. M. Stimson, to make a thorough study of the results of the use of the treatment. The report of this board has just appeared and its findings are a complete refutation of Friedmann's claims, not only for having developed a specific cure for tuberculosis, but also for the harmfulness of his treatment for men and animals. The board had an opportunity to observe the effect of the treatment in ninety-four cases of tuberculosis and was prepared to furnish every means for treatment, and observation, but owing to Dr. Friedmann's delay and dilatoriness it was obliged to limit observations to the ninety-four cases.

The claims made for the treatment were that by means of injections of a living organism, harmless of itself, it was possible to cure cases of tuberculosis which had not advanced to that stage where death was imminent. From the way in which the claims were put forth and from the fact that successes only and not failures were reported in the public press, the reader of Friedmann's claims could assume that such results only were the rule. In other words it was claimed that a sovereign remedy for tuberculosis had been discovered. Investigation did not confirm the claims. On the contrary, it was found that the preparation used was not devoid of dangerous properties of itself, and will less so when injected into persons with tuberculosis. A favorable action on tuberculous processes by the treatment was not the rule.

The board made extensive studies of the organism used in the preparation of the vaccine, both by cultural methods and by animal inoculation. It was found that the injection of the organism in animals causes abscess formation in over 25 per cent of the animals treated. Animals treated with the organism—rabbits and guinea-pigs—either before or subsequent to infection with virulent tubercle bacilli, developed as a rule an increased susceptibility to tuberculosis. The treatment did not show either curative or protective properties in monkeys against tuberculosis.

It is a matter for congratulation that this painstaking report from the Public Health Service has appeared; it is a pity that it could not have been given publicity at the time when consumptives were being so widely exploited; but scientific work of the kind done by the Public Health Service in this instance obviously requires a long period of time. It is a report that shows the absolutely flimsy evidence on which the Friedmann method for the treatment of tuberculosis was based. The evidence shows that the commercialization of the Friedmann cure was a grisly hoax on the unfortunate but ever hopeful consumptive.

NO DEFENSE AGAINST SUBMARINES

With the sinking of one British war vessel after another by German submarines, the question is asked whether there is not some means of meeting these attacks. This subject is dealt with in an interesting article by a navy expert in the special war issue of the Scientific American of November 7th, in which the following statement appears:

So far, no single effective means of defense, such as that of armor against the gun and the gun against the destroyer, has been devised against the submarine. Protection must be sought in the co-operation of several precautions, which, in their aggregate effect, should afford, and doubtless are affording, a fair measure of security. Among those may be mentioned: Thorough sub-division of the hull; interior armor; a careful lookout from the ships and by aeroplane scouts; a high-cruising speed and frequent changes of course; instant running of destroyers; and the rapid-fire gun. The above defenses are effective if the fleet is under way. If the fleet is at anchor in a roadstead or harbor, protection may be afforded against the submarine by mine-fields, heavy chain cable entanglements and netting.

The best protection against the submarine, so far as the absolute loss of a ship is concerned, is a thorough system of sub-division. Large ships such as the "Cressy," "Hogue," and "Albatross," which went down rapidly after being torpedoed, were of an older type, built at a date when sub-division, judged by present-day ideas, was comparatively limited. In later ships of the largest size, such as battleships and battle-cruisers, sub-division has been made so minute, that it is believed a ship of the type of our "Pennsylvania" could take the blows of two or even three torpedoes, without going to the bottom. The pre-dreadnoughts of the "Connecticut" class have over five hundred separate watertight compartments, big and little, below the protective deck.

Of late years great attention has been given to the question of working into the hull a certain amount of longitudinal armor, for the purpose of meeting the force of the torpedo explosive on the outer skin, or of confining its effects to the outer portion of the hull and preserving intact the vitals.

ONE OF SIBLEY'S STORIES.

The Hon. W. S. Matthews always liked a good story, and is one of those fortunate men who can laugh easily and heartily when there is anything to laugh about. He was in the Tribune office Saturday as we noted that a woman in St. Louis had been relieved of sin in a divorce court, and another woman in the same court had been rescued from Hell by the same method. They were Mrs. Alfred Sinn and Mrs. Albert Hell. It reminded Matthews of an incident in the public life of Ben Wade, one of Ohio's strong men in the days before slavery was abolished. Some fellow from out West was at Washington trying to get some congressional action for the benefit of his territory and Wade was on the committee concerned with the matter. Wade asked the applicant if they had a good water supply in his country. The man said no. He then asked if the people out there were of a desirable sort. Again the man reluctantly admitted that they were not as good a class as they hoped to have later. "Why," roared Wade at him, "all that hell backs is water and good society!" Gallipoli Tribune.

Not satisfied with having carried home the bacon, Charlie Kokers is putting in his spare time down at Barney in counting up his official majority. Oh, what's the use, Charlie? Bill Hannan isn't going to try and steal the job away from you. Not this year, that is.

Official order Number Two of Governor Willis, January 15, 1915. The patriots of the "Blue Democracy" will now line up at the pie counter and be served. Don't crowd.

Still, we believe that if we had been Governor Jimmy we would have told Wayne Wheeler when he called to "beat it on over to Ada and tell your troubles to the lemon you got on election day."

The word has come out that no one will be taken care of at the pie counter at Columbus unless he has the endorsement of George Ditty and Charles E. Hard, members of the G. O. P. state executive committee. We know that this is a fact because Mr. Ditty has said so himself. There's nothing like being sure of your ground.

THE WORM HAS TURNED.

The editor of the Hillsboro Dispatch is a candidate for sympathy. He has stood the high and still higher cost of living just as long as he intends or as he thinks an overworked editor ought to. And so he lets out a wild yell of protest in this week's issue. He says:

"The manner in which those gentle gunmen who deal in printers' supplies have whooped up the price on everything used around a newspaper office is simply a fright. The ink factories have shot the price of news ink up to a point that makes Gilderoy's justly famous kite look like a sunken submarine. The paper hards act as if they thought their wood pulp product ought to bring as much as India bible stock. And type! Why, you'd think type metal was composed of two parts radium and one part auroraboracis. Even Aunt Mandy Jackson, in her soiled bid for washing our towel, quotes a figure 50 per cent higher than that quoted when we were thinking of having it washed last year. At that, we could manage to eke through this month if some of our valued subscribers would flick in with a little of that emergency currency. Even a few old-fashioned dollar bills would do."

Our evening suggestion to Senator Tremper and Representative Sprague is along the "how to become popular" line. We advise that they secure the passage of a law requiring each of their voting constituents to call upon members of the legislature at the state capital once during a session to get posted on affairs of state, all expenses of the trip to be borne out of the public treasury.

Suggestions continue to pour in upon us as to our trip next year to the South Pole. One earnest candidate for a piece of pie came all the way down to the office to urge that George Ditty be taken along and dropped overboard the first time a shark was sighted. He said that was the only way George could be kept away from the pie table after Willis began his reign.

The forthcoming report of the receipts and expenditures of the Santa County Women's Suffrage Association is being awaited with intense interest owing to the rumor that several eminent political aspirants with an eye to the future, were heavy contributors to the women's campaign.

"Of course this water is clear now all right. But so is the river. What I want to see is clear water when the river is muddy. Then I'm ready to whoop her up for the new water works," said the man from Missouri on the street car this morning.

For The Living

If you like a brother here
Tell him so;
If you hold his friendship dear
Let him know.

All the roses that you spend
On his bier when he is dead
Are not worth one kind word said
Years ago.

You can help a brother now
If you will
Smooth the rumples from his brow.

You can kill
The despair that's in his heart
With a word and ease the smart.
So why stand you now apart,
Keeping still?

You can help a brother when
He is here.
He would hold your praises then
Very dear.

But absently you stay
And withhold what you could say
That would cheer him on his way
For his bier.

What, I wonder, if the dead
Saw and heard
What is done and what is said
Afterward
Would they smile in reply?
Would they snarl and ask us why
When the time to help was nigh

No one stirred?
Keep your noses for the living.
They would say:
"Waste no time in praises giving
To-day."

Strew some living brother's way
So,
If you like another say so.
For the thing that now you praise
Is but clay."

the Diamond display window of Albert Zoellner? Here are shown, not only the conventional form of diamond jewelry, but the new phrases invented by artistic designers, to keep step with the times.

Most beautiful are the new black and white designs, the black being onyx, the white a pure fine diamond.

These designs appear in La Vallieres, Bronches, handsome Rings, Pearl Pins and Bar Pins.

Curiously enough the price is not such as to financially wreck a body.

$7.00 to $15.00 buys some beautiful patterns.

DEATH THWARTS JUSTICE AND ACCUSED IS RELEASED

When Corn White ended her own life in Lexington, Ky., last Saturday night, she sealed forever the only tips that could utter a word of prosecution against Joseph DeLara, the foreigner who has been under indictment in the United States court at Cincinnati on a white slavery charge. DeLara was accordingly released from custody Friday morning at Cincinnati as conviction was out of the question without the White girl's testimony.

DeLara was charged with having brought the White girl from Lexington, Ky., to Portsmouth last spring, for immoral purposes, the being alleged that he placed her in a resort in the north end of this city. Deputy United States marshals arrested DeLara and his wife, Callie Gabbard, and also held the White girl as a witness. The accused couple secured their release on bond, while the girl spent almost five months in the Scioto county jail awaiting a hearing.

A few weeks ago the girl was taken to Cincinnati to testify against the couple, but the case was continued, and she was allowed her liberty. She returned to Lexington and again entered into a life of sin. Last Saturday night she committed suicide in the resort in which she was an inmate.

Underwent Operation

Clara, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Vetter of Third street had her tonsils and adenoids successfully removed Friday by Dr. George S. Mytinger.

YOUR KIND OF HEADACHE

The headache which in addition to the pain, gives the impression of a tight band about the head, is caused by nervous exhaustion. It is a blessing in disguise because it gives warning that you are over-drawing your supply of nervous energy. Unless you stop the mental fatigue, and build up your nerves you will be fortunate if you escape nervous breakdown, some form of paralysis or other severe nervous disorder.

Rest is, of course, desirable but not always possible and liable to be deleterious. With sufficient rest the nerves will build themselves up. Failing in this, you need something that will build them up and sustain them while they are kept together at work. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are probably unequalled for this purpose. They build up the nerves in the only possible way, by enriching the blood with elements the nerves need. The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring a non-alcoholic tonic and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have proved useful in so many severe cases that every sufferer is justified in giving them a trial for any form of nervous debility. They contain no opiate or harmful drug.

A little book on Nervous Disorders will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Friday 13th

Did you take a peep at the calendar today? If you did you perhaps observed that it was Fateful Friday, the 13th. These given to superstition stepped around rather cautiously today. There was no walking under ladders, sharing a pair of stairs with another person, looking backward in a mirror, or picking up a pin with the head pointing toward you with those superstitiously inclined.

Big Brick Order

The Kentucky Firebrick company Friday received an order for the face brick that will go in to the new building Robinson, Boyd and Northcutt will build in

Burglars Feast In The Allen Kitchen

John Allen, a mail carrier, early Friday awoke to find burglars had feasted at his expense during the night.

The burglars had entered the front door of the Allen home 1715 Logan street and straightway must have helped themselves to jellies and some of John's choice home-made hamburger cheese. They left through the rear door without having disturbed anything valuable in the house. The family up stairs sleeping soundly did not know there was anything wrong until they discovered the front door standing wide open.

NEW BOSTON

David McArthur, a seventy-three-year-old Virginian, who was arrested by Rev. H. Hodge of the Star Yards, Thursday morning, for being drunk and trying to take possession of the Star Yards, was released for about twenty minutes Thursday afternoon. He had no more than left the Star Yards when he was arrested. He was again landed behind the bars and will be kept there on a water wagon diet until he promises to leave town. He told Mayor Davis he did not expect mercy from the people of this state as he was a rebel soldier and a moonshiner. It was learned Thursday night that the aged man is the same one freed by a jury of prisoners in Mayor Frick's court Wednesday. With his long gray hair and beard, McArthur resembles a hermit.

BARRIER UNBROKEN ALONG WEST ZONE; TENACIOUS FIGHTING

London, Nov. 13 (2:45 p. m.)—The territory captured and lost since the two opposing forces joined nearly a month ago in the Flanders cockpit could almost be covered by a surveyor's chain. Despite the limitation of the field and the intensity of the fighting, both fronts still breast one another in an unbroken barrier along the Yser.

The apparent inability of the Germans to push their recent success at Dixmude to a decisive issue has removed much of the anxiety that was felt in London when the news of the capture of this village was first received.

The suggestion that the German attack on Dixmude was preparily intended to mask a retreat finds no support here and the theory that the invaders contemplate anything like an extensive retreat from Belgium is accepted by few people in London.

The best opinion is that even if the present battle should so develop as to enable the allies to take the offensive in force they would shortly find themselves face to face with the fortress-like entrenchments stretching from Zeebrugge to the Meuse.

The fighting on the Aisne seems to have resumed its original intensity, but in this region the French claim to have checked all the attacks of the enemy and consolidated their previous successes.

Nouvion, as well as between Group and Vregly and to the northeast of Soissons.

In the vicinity of Vailly a counter attack by the Germans delivered against those of our troops who had retaken Chateau and Souper was repulsed. Equal failure attended the German efforts in the environs of Berry-au-Bac.

In the Argonne there has been a violent artillery duel.

There has been minor progress in the vicinity of St. Mihiel and in the region of Ponta Monson.

A surprise attack delivered by our troops against the villages of Val and Chailon near Grey-Sur-Vecouse, made it possible for us to capture a detachment of the enemy.

A German attack directed against the heights of Mont Sainte-Marie resulted in failure.

"Fierce French attacks to the west and east of Soissons have been repulsed with heavy losses to the enemy. She leaves a father, mother and 3 brothers, Wilfred, Floyd, Gilbert, and a host of little schoolmates, who will miss her presence in the school room very much. Morning flowers display their sweets And gay their silken leaves unfold As careless as the moonlit heaps, As fearless of the evening cold.

Nipped by the winds unkindly blast, And parched by the sun's direct rays, The mountain's glory fades, The short-lived beauty dies away.

Dest bloom the human face divine, When youth its pride of beauty shows, Fairer than spring its colors shine, And sweeter than the virgin rose.

Or worn by slowly rolling years, Are broken by sickness in a day, The fading glories disappear, Short lived beauties die away.

Let sickness blast, Let Death devour, If Heaven we recompense, Our highest sorrows fade the flowers.

OBITUARY

Clare Marie Brooker

The Death Angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Brooker, of this place, taking away their only little daughter. She was a victim of typhoid fever. Mrs. Brooker is lying at the point of death with the same disease.

Clare Marie Brooker was born December 9, 1908, and died Nov. 9, 1914, age 5 years and 11 months. She leaves a father, mother and 3 brothers, Wilfred, Floyd, Gilbert, and a host of little schoolmates, who will miss her presence in the school room very much. The funeral services were held at the M. E. church, Rev. W. E. Knight officiating. Burial at the Fyles cemetery.

Morning flowers display their sweets And gay their silken leaves unfold As careless as the moonlit heaps, As fearless of the evening cold.

Nipped by the winds unkindly blast, And parched by the sun's direct rays, The mountain's glory fades, The short-lived beauty dies away.

Dest bloom the human face divine, When youth its pride of beauty shows, Fairer than spring its colors shine, And sweeter than the virgin rose.

Or worn by slowly rolling years, Are broken by sickness in a day, The fading glories disappear, Short lived beauties die away.

Let sickness blast, Let Death devour, If Heaven we recompense, Our highest sorrows fade the flowers.

If firm the word of God remains, REV. W. E. KNIGHT, HYA GRAHAM.

GERMANS GAIN LEFT BANK OF RIVER YSER DESPITE THE ALLIES

London, Nov. 13 (10:05 a. m.)—The Germans have crossed the Yser river, according to the admission in the latest Paris official communication, and although the invaders occupy only a few hundred yards on the left bank of the stubbornly contested river, the allies cannot be indifferent to this gain and desperate efforts will be made to drive back this slight wedge.

Ypres, extending like a fortress bastion in the lines of the invaders is still held by the British and unless the flank attacks on this position are successful Dixmude is likely to prove a barren gain for the Germans who still find the way to Dunkirk barred.

The theory that the Germans are making an unprecedented attempt on this coast objective is confirmed by an official just returned to Holland from East Prussia, where, he claims, the severity of the German defeat is due to the fact that so many troops have been detached for the effort against Calais.

Aisne Battle Resumed

Little attention lately has been paid to the operations along the river Aisne but, according to late dispatches, fierce fighting resulting in the early days of the siege battle there, has been in progress for some time with no great alteration in the line, but some slight advantage in favor of the allies.

In the coast battle the latest reports indicate that the Germans, after heavy artillery fire, made massed infantry assaults, suffering losses much heavier than the defenders.

German Battle Soon To Open

From the east come reports that Petrograd is expecting to hear any moment that the great battle between Cossacks has been started, with past Kaliz and behind a screen of Cossacks, their infantry and artillery in force are said to be within striking distance of the German frontier.

Belarest reports two Austrian divisions annihilated along the Carpathian which, if true, indicates that the Austrian opposition to Belokovina is at an end and the way opened for the invasion of

Transylvania

In the minor war theatres there is little to report except the severe defeat administered to General Duvet by his old comrade in arms, General Rotha.

OBITUARY

Milton Phillips.

Despite the fact that a Confederate bullet pierced Milton Phillips' right lung in a notable battle fought near Lewisburg, Va., on May 23, 1862 and that for many days he lay between life and death in a hospital he ultimately recovered, re-enlisted in the Civil War, served his flag with honor and distinction and lived to reach the ripe old age of 74 years. Mr. Phillips passed peacefully away at 6 o'clock Thursday evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Jolly, of Dewey avenue with whom he had resided for many years.

He had been in failing health for some time. In addition to one daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Jolly, and one son, John O. Phillips of Clinton, Ia. He arrived in Portsmouth several days ago and was at his father's bedside when the end came.

Mrs. Phillips, who before her marriage was Elizabeth Overton, passed away April 11, 1887. Mr. Phillips was born July 17, 1840, near Oak Hill. When the Civil War broke out he enlisted in Co. B 34th V. I. and saw many months of active and rough service with his company until wounded near Lewisburg. Upon his recovery he re-enlisted as a member of the 173rd Regiment D. V. I. and remained in its ranks until the war ended in 1865.

Mr. Phillips was a splendid citizen, brave, patriotic and sympathetic. He served his flag and Master faithfully and when taps were sounded he was ready for the final call.

The body will be shipped Saturday in Oak Hill and the funeral services and interment will be held there, Saturday morning.

Girls Alleged Shoplifters, Little Miss Blames Aunt

Two children, Margaret and Dolores Hill, aged 12 and 8 years respectively, of New Boston, were taken in custody late Thursday afternoon in Marting's store by Sergeant Marshall and Officer Stokley, on a charge of shop lifting. Their aunt, Mrs. Anna Farmer, of 31 Rhodes avenue, New Boston, with whom they make their home, was also apprehended outside the store and held at police station for several hours on suspicion of being implicated in the crime.

In the possession of the children at the time of their arrest was a dress, valued at $1, alleged to have been stolen from the Marting store, while a further search revealed a silver butter dish valued at $2 and a comb worth 10 cents, which, it is claimed, were stolen from Anderson's store earlier in the afternoon.

The officers were called to the Marting store by telephone, employees of the store claiming to have detected the children in the act of theft of the dress.

When taken to police station, the smaller of the two children told the officers that they had been instructed to steal the articles by their aunt, Mrs. Farmer, a statement which the latter stoutly denied. The child added that they had made a trip through the shopping district the afternoon before, and that Mrs. Farmer had pointed out to them the articles she wanted taken.

The trio was held until later in the evening, when Carl J. Farmer, husband of the woman, secured their release upon his promise to have them in juvenile court before Judge Beatty Friday morning at 9 o'clock. Judge Beatty was called out of the city early Friday morning, and the investigation has been continued until Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. In the meantime, the woman and the two children are at liberty on their own recognizance.

The parents of the two children formerly resided in Elwood, a suburb of Cincinnati, but the children came to the Farmer home in New Boston when their father and mother separated recently. It is claimed. Their father is a Big Four employee, while their mother is away on a visit to Indianapolis, Chicago, and other points. Mr. Farmer told the police officers Thursday evening that Mr. Hill had written him earlier in the week about sending the children to him at Cincinnati. Police have turned over the investigation to the juvenile court, and no steps will be taken until the return of Judge Beatty.

He was finally released with a warning. Turnkey Joe Stokley showing him the prison bars and then leading him out into the alley.

SHOPLIFTERS AT WORK

Y. W. C. A. NEWS

This has been a busy week in Association circles.

The House committee met on Tuesday morning, transacting the usual business of the committee.

The home at present is in a prosperous condition. There are now forty-two girls in the home. Quite a family.

The Finance committee met on Wednesday morning at the home of Mrs. P. E. Selby. At this meeting the bills of the Association contracted in October were allowed. This committee, although working in the background, is the committee that keeps the oil on the machinery to help things run smoothly.

The Board met in regular session on Thursday morning. The work of the various committees were discussed and plans laid for improving the winter's work.

The work in the shoe factories is growing in interest. The girls sing together and enjoy it, for there are many good voices in all these places. There are from thirty to thirty-five of the Excelsior girls who are attending the meetings.

RUB RHEUMATIC, ACHING JOINTS AND STOP PAIN

Rheumatism is "pain" only.

Not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Stop drug-ging! Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" right into your sore, stiff, aching joints, and relief comes instantly. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless rheumatism liniment which never disappoints and can not burn the skin.

Lumber up! Quit complaining! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest, "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, and in just a moment you'll be free from rheumatic pain, soreness and stiffness. Don't suffer! Relief awaits you. "St. Jacobs Oil" is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, sprains.

At the Drew factory the girls are very enthusiastic, filling up the seats, bringing up extra boxes to sit on, and some of their number helping with special music that all heartily enjoy. Here we have sixty-five and upwards in attendance.

The Selby girls are gathering up and rallying to the noon meetings, somewhere near one hundred listening to the music there on Thursday noon.

And now we have a special notice for the children. Miss Marguerite Dawson will hold a Story Hour at the Y. W. C. A. Hall, corner Second and Court streets, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. All girls are invited. Girls come and enjoy the hour.

MERCHANTS' BANQUET IS A SPLENDID SUCCESS

CO-OPERATION IN ALL THINGS KEYNOTE OF PROFITABLE EVENING

A feast of music, oratory, and wit followed a delightful banquet, the seventh annual one in the history of the Portsmouth Retail Merchants Association, at the "Club" auditorium Thursday evening, guests of which were the brains of Portsmouth's commercial and professional life.

Just as the past year has marked the greatest development of the spirit of harmony and the community of interest among Portsmouth's business men, so did the annual banquet of 1914 surpass all similar affairs of like nature in past years in attendance and enthusiasm, not to mention more material and essential features in its connection.

Over one hundred representative business men of the city, from the heads of the big department stores down to the humble proprietor who acts as buyer, salesman, credit man, and all round man for his little store, were numbered among the throng which surrounded the twelve banquet tables, arranged becomingly about the large auditorium.

Co-Operation Was Keynote

Uppermost in the minds of all present was the thought of good fellowship and co-operation—no operation in those details of business will make for the prosperity of each other and the welfare of the community as a whole. Every sentiment uttered along those lines met with a responsive chord in the heart of every one present, which was manifest in no unimpeachable degree to a casual observer.

The occasion resolved itself early in the evening into a modest celebration of what had already been accomplished in that direction during the past and preceding years, and a display of optimism for still greater accomplishments during the year to come.

Competitors met on common ground, throwing aside all thoughts of business excepting those which inured to their mutual benefit and protection. Heads of various enterprises, all affiliated together in the retail mercantile business, united in the promotion of ideas and programs that insured safer, snarer, and more prosperous business methods.

Throughout it all was the dominant note of harmony and progressive co-operation, two attributes of Portsmouth's retail merchants which have stamped them as leaders in the community and have helped make possible the wonderful growth and prosperity which this city has enjoyed for the past decade.

Not one discordant note marred the pleasure of the affair, which will be remembered as one of the most pleasant gatherings in recent years.

Committee Deserves Praise

In fact, the committee in charge set a mark for like committees of the future to emulate. Profiting by experiences of the past, the members studiously avoided those unintentional mistakes which have lessened the enjoyment of former occasions of similar nature.

Thorough care was taken to see that the banquet was promptly and satisfactorily served, and that feature of the affair could not have been improved upon. Though as pretensions, if not more so than formerly, the menu was served with style and alacrity, and the ladies of the All Saints' church, who were in charge, richly deserved the praise that was bestowed upon them.

Instead of the numerous, long drawn out speeches which have characterized former civic gatherings, the responses were limited to number, and quality, rather than quantity, featured the oratorical side of the occasion. Both foreign and local talent divided the honors, finishing in plenty of time to send the members home at a reasonable hour, their minds carrying pleasant memories of an enjoyable and profitable evening.

Speakers Were The Right Kind

Pertinent suggestions on "Merchandising From A Retailer's Standpoint" were freely handed out by B. H. Kroger, the "Grocery King" of Cincinnati, whose phenomenal success from a small beginning lent added weight to his words; the value of a systematic credit system was emphasized by R. B. Sullivan, secretary of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce; a touch of humor was added by Dr. W. D. Tremper, State Senator-elect from the Seventh district, and a foremost citizen; while it was left for a local product, Karl Zoellner, to eloquently recount the triumph of the 1914 Korn Carnival and to sound the slogan for a "bigger and better" one in 1915.

As master of ceremonies John McMillan, of the Portsmouth G. S. company, piloted the speakers through an entertaining and profitable ninety minutes program, while the business side of the evening, which furnished still greater variety, was ably handled by the president of the association, Charles Daehler.

Added fame to their fast increasing reputation was garnered by the Pilgrim Singers, a distinctively Portsmouth organization, who sang heavily with their musical hits, rendered with the art of a professional aggregation of songsters. Music from a Victrola, stationed in the balcony, entertained the guests while they were engaged in looking after the wants of the inner man.

Hall Was Prettily Decorated

The hall was tastefully decorated with flags and bunting, which enhanced the appearance of the spotless white table covers, scented with candelabra and flowers. The finishing touch to the scene was furnished by the young ladies, dressed in white, who seated gracefully to and fro, attending to the wants of the diners.

Seated at the speakers' table, located in the center of the hall, were the speakers, B. H. Kroger, of Cincinnati; R. B. Sullivan, of Columbus; Senator-elect W. D. Tremper, and Karl Zoellner, of this city, Toastmaster John McMillan, President Charles Daehler, J. H. Varner, Albert Zoellner, and J. Ross, Portsmouth's oldest citizen and a guest of honor.

Grouped uniformly about the speakers' table were the other guests, seated around which sat the members and invited guests, their places indicated by place cards, arranged in advance by the committee.

Enjoyed A Social Session

For a half hour or more previous to the banquet, the members enjoyed a social session in the club rooms on the first floor, where the same cordial feeling that characterized the banquet was manifested.

One face was missing from among the number that have attended every banquet since the association was founded. Illness necessitated the absence of H. S. Grimes for the first time in the seven years that the annual banquets have been held. His regret and disappointment was contained in a brief note read by President Charles Daehler, in which he also assured them that he would be on hand as usual next year. The sentiment of the writer was feelingly applauded by the banqueters.

After the abundance of good things had been dispatched, and the satisfied diners had surrounded themselves with the aroma of pure Havana smoke, President Charles Daehler opened the after-dinner ceremonies with a short address, in which he spoke of the pleasure which he had attended his year's service as the head of the organization. He also referred to the responsibilities that were attached to the office, but added that the satisfaction of service with such a splendid spirit of co-operation on the part of the members overbalanced all the inconveniences and worries incident to the office.

When Mr. Daehler Was Happy

Mr. Daehler stated that the happiest time of his life was during the Korn Carnival, when the ability of the Portsmouth merchants to achieve something worth while was amply demonstrated. He congratulated the members upon the interest and enthusiasm shown, and assured them that the tremendous success which it enjoyed was due solely to the loyalty of the membership of the Portsmouth Retail Merchants Association.

without which it could not have been carried to a successful end. He expressed his regret over his confessed inability to preside during the banquet, but assured his hearers that the committee had chosen a man "windy" enough to fill the bill, a "gas man." With this introduction, John McMillan, the toastmaster, assumed the reins, and acquitted himself with credit for the remainder of the evening.

Mr. McMillan and Pilgrim Singers

Mr. McMillan's first act, after a witty response to President Daehler's introduction, was to call upon the Pilgrim Singers for a selection, which was roundly cheered.

Eight candidates were balloted upon for directors, three to be chosen, printed ballots having been distributed among the members.

The count showed that the three directors whose terms had expired, were re-elected, W. H. Burt, William Treischler, and Ben G. Harris. Other candidates were Adam Sommer, John W. Russell, Dan Thomas, John Voellner, and C. E. Froehner. Walter Wilhelm, Oscar Brunner, and Adolph Graf acted as tellers to canvass the vote.

Mr. Kroger Was Feature

Indicative of the earnestness which has marked his life's endeavor, combined with a natural eloquence of speech, the address of B. H. Kroger, multi-millionaire grocer, of Cincinnati, was easily the feature of the evening. Full of timely hints for the retail merchant, his speech was largely a resume of his own business career, which began as a proprietor of a small grocery store in Cincinnati, and which has brought him to the head of a $11,000,000 concern, which operates a chain of stores throughout the Middle West.

Mr. Kroger expressed his delight at being privileged to come to Portsmouth to speak to the local merchants on a subject that was both near and dear to him, and subject that had been his life's work, and the only subject upon which he could talk with enthusiasm.

He said he was gratified to see such a splendid group of men organized together in a business men's association, a remarkable showing for a city of this size. The benefits of such an association, said he, were not confined solely to matters of business, but they affected the welfare of the city, county, state, and nation, without which business could not long survive.

In the handling of his subject, Mr. Kroger stated that he was limited entirely to his own experience in business, which proved to be a wide and varied one before he had concluded.

"No Such Thing As 'Luck'"

Seven was heaped upon those men who attribute business success to "luck," those who always refer to a successful man as "a lucky man."

"There is no luck, no magic wand in business," said Mr. Kroger. "It's that tremendous stick-to-itiveness, that everlasting never-say-die spirit, that 'never watch the clock' spirit, which spells success in business. There is no road too long, no customer too small, for the man who is out to succeed."

Mr. Kroger then mentioned an incident in his early life, when he was driving a grocery wagon in Cincinnati to illustrate his point. He told of having delivered a quarter of a pound of tea, two miles beyond the end of his route to a new customer, not for the sale itself, but for the prospects it offered. He added that he had the satisfaction later of building up that entire territory until he had over one hundred customers in the two miles where before he had not a single customer.

He also related an incident when he was soliciting orders in Covington, Ky., with another young man, in his early business career. His companion seemed one order in a block on the other side of which he himself had secured seven orders. Investigation later brought out the fact that his companion had neglected to solicit certain houses because they "did not look good to him."

"There's business everywhere, in every nook and corner of the city, and each of you men should get his share. There's business

"Boost" Was Big Message

"Don't get away from that slogan, 'Boost Portsmouth.' When some man undertakes a development of a certain portion of your city, don't stand around and say, 'That man's going to boost,' but encourage him and help him make his venture a success. Every new addition and every improvement to the city means new business. Get behind every new manufacturing enterprise, no matter if it is but a cigar-maker who employs but one man, or a broom-maker, who likewise has but one man in his employ."

Mr. Kroger also condemned the small business man who continually repeated, "If I had the money the other fellow's got." He maintained that the biggest asset to any business was the application which the owner gave to it, and that behind every success was the spirit of self sacrifice and service on the part of the owner.

Again he referred to his own experience to illustrate his point. He told of how in July, 1883, he was the proprietor of a small grocery store on Pearl street in Cincinnati, with a working capital of $350. The following February that entire capital was buried in every business.

Newspapers Best Ad Mediums

"Advertise," continued Mr. Kroger. "Let the people know you've got it if you have anything worth selling. Newspapers, I have found, are the best mediums of advertising for the retail merchant, but by all means, advertise," he added.

He advocated a strictly cash method of doing business, and told how much more could be accomplished when the ledger was not burdened with old accounts. His St. Louis store last Saturday transacted $28,000 worth of business, and every cent of it was in the till at closing time Saturday night, according to his statement.

Mr. Kroger went on record as being heartily in favor of a new stage of the Ohio river, and said that the business men along the river would have to devote the combined efforts of their various organizations toward bringing it about.

He also advocated a bill in the constant agitation against business, which has led to voluminous reports and a series of red tape complaints for the benefit of members of commissions on $10,000 yearly salaries who couldn't make $1500 a year if they were in business for themselves.

Encourage Traction Lines

In conclusion, he urged the business men of Portsmouth to encourage speech was repeatedly punctuated with applause. Cries of "Go on" were heard as he indicated his intention of closing, but he concluded just when interest in his remarks was at its height.

Senator Makes Witty Speech

Dr. W. D. Tremper, the new senator-elect, was injected into the program at this point to provide the necessary wit and humor for the occasion, and he succeeded admirably, sustaining his reputation as an after dinner speaker. After a series of amusing anecdotes and sallies, the majority of which were aimed at himself, Dr. Tremper launched a movement for a large and commodious auditorium for Portsmouth, he himself favoring the state armory project.

on every road and highway leading into Portsmouth, in every new building that goes up in the city, and the man who gets it is the man who goes after it," declared Mr. Kroger.

ninth the muddy waters of the Ohio river which overlaid his banks and flooded his store. Before the waters had receded, Mr. Kroger told how with broom in hand, by dint of his own effort, restored his place of business to its normal appearance, and laid the foundation of the tremendous concern of which he is now the head.

"There's no use talking, if a man has the pep and go in him, he's bound to win. The lopsided business man, with two weeks of dy speeches covering his stock, talks about bad business, and he will always have bad business."

"Merchandising," said Mr. Kroger, "is selling things to customers that sell them, and makes them want to come back. You can't make a success of business unless your customers are satisfied. And don't let the other fellow get there first."

In the latter connection, Mr. Kroger gave his hearers an insight into how the affairs of the Kroger stores are conducted, and how they spend thousands of dollars to be the first in the field on any new proposition in the grocery business.

Mr. Sullivan Gives Fine Talk

Mr. Sullivan's keynote was also only five per cent of the retail "co-operation," without which business of a community is done on a credit basis, and it behooved the five merchant to give the same careful attention to his credit department as he did to the buying and selling ends if he hoped to achieve success.

Too often, continued Mr. Sullivan, the credit man is chosen for his adaptability at figures and his ability to strike a "trial balance" quickly, rather than for his experience in retail business and his tact for handling customers. While he admitted that he should be a fair accountant, he added that it was equally as important that he should have a fair knowledge of business law and experience in all departments of the business.

According to his statement, several of the speakers of the evening maintained that the credit department of any business was the heart of that enterprise, and as thoroughly essential, as the buying and selling departments, both of which could be offset by a poor credit department.

According to his statement, sev

Small stores, he added, were unable to employ credit men, and in such instance, he advised that a member of the firm keep closely in touch with his credits, and not detail that work to an outside employee. Even large department stores found it to advantage to have a member of the firm in the credit department. Good men come high, said Mr. Sullivan, but they save their salaries many times in the course of a year.

Bad accounts were likened by Mr. Sullivan to old stock on the shelves, and were just an expensive, but not a profitable, investment. The credit department of a store should be its most efficient department, and this was possible only when the other stores with which it was affiliated for mutual protection and benefit furnished honest information to each other.

Mr. Sullivan's subject was necessarily a dry and practical one, but he handled it in an interesting manner, and offered suggestions which could not be other than profitable if they were put into practice.

Watch Your Credits

Karl Zoellner Reviews Carnival

To Karl Zoellner, secretary of the 1914 Korn Carnival committee, was given the task of reviewing the success of the big exhibition, and his talk, one of the best of the evening, was warmly received. Mr. Zoellner said:

"Mr. Toastmaster, gentlemen of the convention: Capt. Lawson had charge of a large river steamerboat on the lower Mississippi. Owing to the heavy rains the river was unusually high, and it took an experienced eye to mark the channel. Lawson had been on duty continuously for thirty-six hours and in his exhaustion he called a negro steersman to take the wheel. Pointing out the north star, he ordered the negro to hold directly on that star, while Lawson stood by, snatching a few winks of sleep. He woke after some hours, to find the boat far out of the channel, among some half-submerged trees, in a deep-set bayou. Calling the steersman, he exclaimed: 'Didn't I tell you to hold by the north star?'"

Our loyal and devoted president, Mr. Charles Daehler, camped out on the Esplanade all week, advising, directing, suggesting and superintending. Our vice president, Mr. Arthur Bode, was chairman of the farm produce display, as well as a member of the executive committee, and by his energy and labor cleaned up one situation after another. Our treasurer, Mr. Albert Zoellner, also a member of the executive committee, by his diplomacy and tact straightened out tangled webs and smoothed out many difficulties. Our financial secretary, Mr. Samuel Harshaw, also a member of the executive committee, worked like a Trojan to make the Carnival the success it proved to be. Mr. William Treischler had charge of street decorations, with such success that all admired the fresh, breezy, clean bouquets that flung our colors every where. Mr. Ben Harris was the financial man, and under his able leadership the soliciting committees performed prodigies in the way of raising funds. Mr. W. W. Anderson plunged into the matter with characteristic directness and lent assistance with his trained judgment and executive ability organizing the great Boosters' Parade. Mr. Albert Marting gave much of his time and his well known energy and dispatch toward the smoothing out of problems we had to face. Mr. Will Burt proved a wonder, handling the transportation problem and organizing the magnificent Federal Parade. Mr. Richards most competently handled that important feature, the advertising campaign, while Mr. St. Straus gave us the best free

"We have passed the Korn Carnival 'long ago,' but the memory is still with us. You all know what a success the Carnival was, exceeding our expectations. You all remember those happy four days, when our friends, the farmers, flooded in from all the country side, bringing with them their families, great and small, and meeting each other within the hospitable walls of our good old home city. You all remember how, with hammer and nail, ribbon and paint, the merchants were out busily building their booths. You all know how good tempered and kindly the crowds were, far from the negro to hold directly on that star, while Lawson stood by, snatching a few winks of sleep. GIANT MACHINE NOT READY FOR SCRAP HEAP

New York, Nov. 13.—Those who are looking for John H. McGraw to bust up the 1914 Giant machine and leave it into the scrap heap are due for a disappointment. John may do a little tinkering here and there, but when the Giant machine of 1915 gets into motion there won't be very many new cogs in its make-up.

There are two reasons why the Giants won't be reassembled entirely. One is that McGraw feels that his 1914 outfit is good enough to grab a pennant if a few weak cogs are removed and some new ones substituted. The other reason is that the most of the 1914 regulars are locked up by iron-clad three year contracts.

McGraw couldn't put his old stars on the market and get value received for them. He couldn't offer them for sale and find many ready buyers because those who are in the market for players don't want to pay a fancy price for the men, and also pay fancy salaries to the players for the 1915 and 1916 season as would be the case if they bought some of the Giants.

The Giants' pitching staff in 1915 won't look much different than it did in 1914. Mathewson, Tesreau, Marquard and Demaree are attached to the club by contracts that still have two years to run. McGraw wouldn't let Tesreau or Marquard go, no matter what offer was made. He will keep Demaree because "Steamer Al" looks like a real pitcher and he will keep Marquard unless some other club makes him a most tempting offer for the eccentric left-hander.

Contrary to the general belief, McGraw isn't anxious to let Marquard go. He figures that 1914 was Marquard's year. He recalls the fact that nearly a dozen of the games that Marquard lost were not through any real fault of Marquard's, but because the Giants time and again failed to hit behind him. A half dozen of Marquard's defeats were 1 to 0, or 2 to 1 affairs.

"When a pitcher loses games of that kind it doesn't reflect on his ability—it reflects on the lack of batting power behind him," declares McGraw.

Ever since the middle of July the rank and file of fans have been "singing" Merkle, the Giant's first sacker. Firing Merkle seems to be one of the annual ways the fans have of entertaining themselves, but unless McGraw finds some star of the first water among his first basing recruits next spring, Merkle will be back at his old station. McGraw thinks a lot of Merkle's ability.

Doyle will be back at second next year. He slumped badly this year, both in fielding and hitting, but Doyle normally is a steady fielder and a slugger. Probably he will do a come back in 1915.

Fletcher will be at short again. Outside of Maranville of the Braves, there is no better short stop in the National League. Fletcher is a timely hitter and fast on the paths. McGraw regards him as one of the most valuable players he ever had.

CLEVELAND TO HAVE BOXING

Cleveland, Nov. 13.—Placing a limit on the number of boxing shows to be allowed each week, or each month, will be the biggest problem for the new boxing commission, which at its meeting Thursday will probably arrange for a resumption of the professional sport in Cleveland.

BUS 7 DAYS AHEAD FOR WELCH

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Harry Pollock intends to keep Freddie Welch busy in the short bouts this season, and pick up as much money as possible for the champion and himself. The Briton already has been sent through three hot ten round engagements in 15 days and he has three more in sight, the last to take place on December 2. One week from tomorrow night Freddie will practice through ten rounds or less with Jimmy Duffy, of Lockport, at Buffalo. Duffy is a long-reined puncher who went pretty well last winter until Charlie White returned him.

After that it will be back to Boston for the champion. One old friend, Eddie Murphy, will take on the king-pin for 10 rounds. Murphy ought to do as well or better than did Matty Rabkin against Welch. After that mix-up Pollock and Welch. After that mix-up Welch to get ready for another battle at the Garden there. Leach Cross may be picked to tryout his right-hand punch on the foreigner. After that it is possible the elusive Welch will appear to mingle with Joe Mandel for a scheduled 20 rounds at New Orleans.

LOST ALLOWANCE, MUST HIKE

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 13.—Five upper classmen from the University of Notre Dame, Russell Downey, Emmett Lenihan, Edward Marcus, Gerald Clements and Elmer Finch, will leave Notre Dame today to walk to Chicago via the Lincoln highway, 102 miles.

They expect to arrive in time to see the Notre Dame-Cardinals game, which will be played at White Sox Park on Saturday afternoon. They bet on Notre Dame against Yale and lost their whole month's allowance.

CO-EDS TO BANQUET PLAYERS

The fair coeds of the domestic science course of the local high school will see to it that the courtesy extended the Portsmouth high school football team in the way of a banquet at Ironton two weeks ago will be returned Saturday when Ironton's football warriors play here. Shortly after the game the Ironton players will be banqueted in the gymnasium at the high school building. The players of both teams will be present as guests, while anyone else purchasing a ticket for 15 cents will be admitted and served.

Harry Le Gore, Yale's Great Punter

Yale's 1914 eleven has shown a great rushing attack. Harry Le Gore is the chief punter. The team, more than any other college in the East, has featured the passing style. Le Gore is the kingpin of the punting game. Yale has many fine punters. Le Gore runs out the entire punting attack. Le Gore is the busiest man at stepping the punter. But the best of Le Gore's traits is his punting sense. He is the "brains" of the Yale back field.

He is twenty years old, a well-built youth, weighing about 175 pounds. He is remarkably fast and is the best open field runner at New Haven. In this respect he is to Yale what the speedy Eddie Mahan is to Harvard. Because of his exceptional speed and general all-around ability, Le Gore is the pivot for the Blue's passing attack. Before he took up football the Yale fullback was a basketball star at Meriden, Conn. He learned the trick of scooping the ball over the ground for snatching it out of the air.

MARANVILLE TAKES BRIDE

Springfield, Mass., Nov. 13.—A marriage of much interest in base ball circles took place this morning at 9 o'clock in Sacred Heart Church, when Miss Elizabeth Shea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Shea, was united in marriage to Walter J. ("Rabbit") Maranville, the Boston Braves' shortstop. The ceremony was performed by Father Doyle.

Players To Suffer

It has been reported that the salary limit in the Ohio State League would be reduced to $1000 per month, but according to action taken by the minor league moguls at Omaha, Class D salary limits will remain unchanged. If the minor leagues are to continue next year despite the worldwide war, it is a cinch that ball players will not receive the handsome salaries they have been for a number of years.

Lincoln Has New Manager

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 13.—Matty McIntyre, former slugging left-fielder for the Detroit Tigers and Chicago White Sox, has accepted terms to manage the Lincoln club of the Western League next season.

Battle Royal When Ironton Plays Here

The sidelines of the Millbrook gridiron are expected to be crowded Saturday afternoon when Portsmouth high school's football warriors engage in battle royal with the Black and Gold eleven representing the Ironton high school. It will be the first appearance of an Ironton high school football on a local gridiron for three years.

Keen rivalry exists between the two teams and the game will be a blood. Portsmouth is claiming a victory by a large margin while Ironton is coming back with an answer that they are going to win but will not say what the score will be.

BOSTON BRAVES FOR SALE?

Boston, Nov. 13.—The Boston Braves, world champions, are for sale, according to a report today, following the visit of President James E. Gaffney to this city. The price has been set at $100,000 and the report also hints that the New York magazine is after a share in a team nearer home. It is further reported that the Braves owner has a partial option on the Brooklyn ball club and may become a joint owner with Charles H. Ebbets. In the event that he does acquire a partial interest in the Brooklyn club, however, it is pretty certain that the Boston manager, George T. Stallings will depart with him.

SMITHS BURIED SIDE BY SIDE

The removal of bodies from the old graveyard at Schofield called to Ben Bratt's mind the fact that graves of the Revolutionary period are common in the old French Grant. At Patton's light there were sixteen Smiths buried side by side, and the remarkable thing of it all was that there was not one John Smith in the number.

ROBBER'S CASE NOW UP TO GRAND JURY

The mayor has sent a transcript in the Ed Kelly case with a letter to Prosecutor Horace L. Small, detailing the Detroit young man's confession of the Alex Glackner hardware store robbery.

"Smoking" Johnson is the name of the negro who Kelly says committed the robbery, while he and a white man known as "Red" simply had received stolen property, declaring his willingness to plead guilty to such a charge.

It develops that another young man besides Harold Bauer saw Kelly and his two accomplices last Sunday morning, namely Lionel Arthur, who says he saw the trio at Vera bridge a short time after the robbery was committed.

The mayor has written to the Chillicothe authorities requesting that a further search be made for the guns that are still missing.

Foreign Business Is Being Received

Cleveland, O., Nov. 13.—The Iron Trade Review today says: Increased interest in buyers in the pig iron market has caused a much more cheerful feeling in some sections of the country. This change is attributed largely to the belief that the attitude of the government toward business will be less radical during the next two years. A fair amount of foreign business in finished materials is being received. A Cleveland manufacturer will make 25,000 steel barrels for export. About one-third of the product of the wire mills of the country is being exported and some additional orders for machine tools have been placed during the past week for export, but the rush in the foreign department for machinery has abated. Some further important business for export is expected to develop soon.

Had Bloody Fight On Chillicothe St.

Albert and Samuel Elwell, mill workers, were arrested by Officer Callahan Smith for attacking Frank Ray late Thursday night, but were released on $10 bonds for their appearance in court Saturday.

Ray, who called the police to the scene of trouble and was therefore permitted to go on his own reconnaissance, said he was just in the act of climbing into his buggy in front of Billy Freshick's place on upper Chillicothe street when the men provoked the fight, one of them taunting he could "kick" him. A desperate struggle ensued, the men fighting all the way down Chillicothe street till they reached Bird Garth's saloon. Ray finally emerged from the melee with a cut over the eye and one the chest, thought to have been caused by a brickbat in the hands of one of the other two men. Blood spurted all over the sidewalk and the fierceness of the fight. Ray said he had known of no grievance between him and the brothers and that the assault was unwarranted.

SATURDAY NIGHT

YOMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

Grandma kept her locks dark, glossy, thick with a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmothers' secret, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the trouble of taking of gathering the sage and the sunny mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or hair brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft, lustrous and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.

Diamonds

NOT HOW CHEAP, BUT RATHER HOW GOOD

In buying a diamond it is far better to select a good stone at a slight difference in price, than to buy an inferior stone.

A poor diamond is always hard to dispose of at any price.

Caught Man And A Woman In His Store; Big Scrap

The prominence of the principals had the effect of attracting quite a crowd at headquarters when John Nugent was taken into custody upon complaint of Floyd Stearns Thursday night.

Stearns claimed to have caught Nugent and a young woman in his piano store, which he had left unlocked, and that when he took him to task Nugent struck him. Lefty Grace was about to take Nugent's part and the police were summoned, but all of the parties, including the woman, escaped before the service wagon reached the scene. Stearns came across Nugent in an alley near government square shortly after and a fight resulted. Both men bore marks of the encounter when Officer Callahan Smith appeared and put an end to the hostilities.

Stearns filed an affidavit against the other man, charging him with disorderly conduct, and Nugent was released on a $10 cash bond for his appearance in court Saturday morning.

MAYOR GONE, NO COURT

The mayor went to Columbus on a business trip Friday and all police court cases accordingly were postponed until Saturday morning.

RUSH WORK ON BRIDGE

Engineer A. T. B. Somerville expresses himself as well pleased with the spirit shown of late by the A. J. Martin and Lookout Mountain Construction companies on the substructure for the new county bridge which is to span the Scioto river.

CASCARETS KEEP BOWELS REGULAR AND CURE COLDS

Get a 10-cent box. Colds—whether in the head or any part of the body—are quickly overcome by urging the liver to action and keeping the bowels free of poison. Take Cascarets tonight and you will wake up with a clear head and no doubt you will wonder what became of your cold. Cascarets work while you sleep; they cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, indigestible food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels.

Remember the quickest way to get rid of colds is one or two Cascarets at night to cleanse the system. Get a 10-cent box at any drug store. Don't forget the children. They relish this Candy Castorile and it is often all that is needed to drive a cold from their little systems.

BILLS PAID, FINIS FOR CAMPAIGN

Horace Small and George Gaideman, chairman and secretary, respectively of the Democratic county committee, cleared up the awful wreckage by paying all bills of the campaign Thursday.

BOY GANG TRIES TO WRECK STREET CAR

A gang of Hill-top boys attempted to wreck a street car on Gallia and Young streets Thursday evening.

Fifty boxes were piled up on the track by the boys and one car had a top of a platform torn off in running into the pile. Officer Tom Albrecht was dispatched to the scene, but the boys had succeeded in making a safe getaway.

Fire Plugs Installed

Fire Chief W. A. McQuat reports that six new fire plugs were installed Thursday, three each in the new Sunnyside addition and East Portsmouth.

GIRLS! BEAUTIFUL, CHARMING HAIR, NO DANDRUFF--25 CENT DANDERINE

Your hair becomes light, wavy, curly, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine" hair cleanse. Just try this—fasten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will remove the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, perfumes and invigorates the scalp forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—grow—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty soft hair and lots of it, surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knecht's Danderine from any druggist or toilet counter—and just try it.

Baum Restaurant Reported Robbed

Lon Baum reported to the police that his restaurant and confectionery on Gallia street just east of Ottumwa street was robbed Thursday night.

Entrance to his place was gained by prying off a step of the side door. Among articles stolen was a box of cigars, a box of chewing gum, a blue serge coat and vest and nickles and dimes amounting to $1.15. The police are investigating.

"ROMANCERS" PROVES A SPLENDID SUCCESS

The Frank Lea Short company producing Edmund Rostand's comedy masterpiece, "The Romançers," with a beauty of setting, costuming, and detail never before attempted, on a Lyceum stage scored a big hit at the Portsmouth High School Thursday night, it being the second number of the high school lecture course of nine numbers.

The auditorium could not seat all the people and a number of folding chairs had to be used.

"The Romançers," a delightful dramatic novelty of three acts was sparklingly carried out by a least of six of the best known Lyceum entertainers.

The play has the feature of being both educational and instructive, and also highly entertaining and amusing. To the student of dramatic literature, its perfect construction, its beauty of diction, its brilliant satire, are a pure delight. Its clever and laughable situations, its real heart interest and pathos, its stirring climaxes, and its brilliant Watteau costuming and setting are a rare treat.

Every detail of costuming of the selection of the players of beauty in effects and scenery has been as carefully worked out with the result that undiscovered possibilities and beauties for plays have been brought out.

The promoters of the high school lecture course are most enthusiastic over their good fortune in securing this production by the best of companies and the support given the play.

New Kind Of Pneumonia

Frank Luther, a plasterer, who developed "pneumonia" after gulping two ships of whiskey, was found down and out at Tenth and Washington streets Thursday night. He told Chief McGarry Friday morning that he was ill and was released with orders to appear in court Saturday.

Boy Is Hurt

Ralph, the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Workman, of Summit street, fell out of a cage near Fourth and Childeville streets Thursday evening and was painfully bruised about the head and shoulder. It was first feared that the little fellow had fractured his skull in the fall.

Twelve Years Since This, Your Store, Started Its Trust Busting Career. Celebrate The Day, Saturday, November 14 and every day thereafter for two weeks

Tomorrow it's just twelve years to a day when this, the people's store, opened its doors, the reception by the people was enthusiastic, crowds flocked to the Salvage, the only store that ever dared to enter Portsmouth and cut prices. Every article was put in the way by the clothing trust to put The Salvage out of business. Mayor Miltstead was appealed to at the behest of the clothing trust to take our advertisements on account of monopoly threats to cut out their ads, if they took ours. For months and months we were without the insurance caused by papers circulated by the trust. But we fought on and on with the aid of the people, whose courage could not be stifled and today, the monument that you good people have erected by word and deed is yours. Dedicated to, for and by the people.

Bierley And Yeley In New Quarters, Have Modern Plant

Bierley & Yeley, dry cleaners, are now established in their new plant at the corner of Sixth and Offshore streets, a plant that is most complete and which stands as a monument to the thrift, energy and capable business methods of the proprietors, Walter Bierley and James C. Yeley, who are numbered among Portsmouth's most progressive business men.

The plant, which is built of brick and reinforced concrete, is absolutely fire proof and is not only of elegant architecture, but built to meet the demands of an up-to-date and modern dry cleaning plant. It is sanitary, comfortable and of sufficient capacity to meet the demands of years, and Messrs. Bierley & Yeley are being congratulated on every hand upon the appearance and completeness of their plant.

The new plant is equipped with modern machinery and the very latest devices, more than $2,000 having been expended for new machinery alone. Nothing has been overlooked that in any way would add to the comfort or safety of the employees. Every room is equipped with fire proof doors and windows and should a fire break out it would be confined to the department in which it originated. Doors and windows will shut automatically at a temperature of 150 degrees.

In entering the new building one finds himself in a well arranged office. From there one can step into the large airy and well ventilated work room, where goods that have been washed and dried are pressed, and put into shape for delivery. New steam boards have been installed and they work as if by magic, completely removing all spots and giving the garments their original lustre and color.

In the next room the dyeing is done, this department being equipped with all the latest mechanical devices. The big steam boiler is also located in this room.

The engine room and garage comes next. A new gas engine has been installed and it runs as smooth as a watch. This room is adequately large to accommodate two delivery trucks.

The dry room is heated to a temperature of 120 degrees by means of many steam pipes. This room is well ventilated and despite the fact that a specially prepared gasoline is used in the cleaning of garments there is not the least odor noticeable about the entire plant.

The planing room is a regular bee hive of energy, more than a half-dozen big machines performing their duty, each one running separate of the other. The firm has lately installed a tumble that is a work of ingenuity for effectiveness, doing its work in ridding garments of stains thoroughly and effectively and without making much fuss.

All the cleaning machines are connected up with pipes leading to a gasoline tank of the capacity of 1500 gallons, which is buried deep in the ground. The gasoline flows to the machines through their separate channels, and the liquid, after performing its functions is run through several fine screens, which relieve it of all lint and accumulated dirt. Then it is sent through a still, where it is refined and thoroughly cleansed of all impurities when it is drained back to the original tank.

A visit to the Bierley & Yeley plant is well worth one's time. Both the proprietors are genial, accommodating gentlemen and alive to the best interests of their patrons. In Quincy Hughes they have an expert cleaner and dyer, one who knows his business from start to finish. Hence any work that leaves the up-to-date plant is 100 per cent good. Messrs. Bierley & Yeley have been successful because of their close application to business and because they have ever helped upmost the wants and wishes of their patrons.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Miss Wise.—Would you please tell me the date of the Grand Opera House fire and oblige.

CHARLIE.

September third.
Dear Dolly.—I am an orphan girl 17 years old and in need of advice. As I have no mother to go to I thought I would come to you. I know you will tell me the right thing to do. I was going with a boy for some time and now he has got me and I don't know what to do to get him back. What would you advise me to do?

MOTHERLESS GIRL.
My dear child you are entirely too young to keep steady company under the circumstances. If you had a mother, no other relative in the home and could invite the young people there, it would be different. I wish I could help you for an orphan certainly needs help. You must be very careful not to do anything that would cause a shadow to be cast over your name. Since you have no mother to help you, I would advise you to spend your evenings reading and studying and trying to improve your mind. When you are older you will be able to go in company and know how to take care of yourself.

Dear Dolly.—Is four o'clock too late to get home from a dance? DIMPLES.
It certainly is, Dimples. I should hate to think any of my girls and boys would stay out dancing after midnight. Eleven or eleven-thirty is the latest any one should stay at a dance.

Dear Dolly.—What is good to make heavy eye brows and lashes? AN ASHLAND BOY.
If she doesn't do any more than watch you, why worry? Your spelling is pretty good, but your writing is only fair.

Dear Dolly.—What makes the face break out? How can it be kept under the circumstances, if cured? MAE.
A poor digestion is apt to make the face break out, or it might be other trouble that needs a doctor's attention. Pershyde soap you for an orphan certainly needs help. You must be very careful not to do anything that would cause a shadow to be cast over your name.

Dear Dolly.—What is nice to serve for lunch? ILLIDA.
If you mean refreshments in the evening, sandwiches and pickles, a salad and cake would be nice.
